

Employment certificate

Mr. Diego Vegas, born on April 8, 2005, from Spain, was employed by our company from December 17, 2025, to May 29, 2026.

JURA Management AG is part of the JURA Materials Group, which belongs to the international building materials group CRH. As part of the group, we offer comprehensive solutions relating to building materials. In addition to sand, gravel and concrete, these include cement as well as services in consulting, recycling and waste disposal.

Diego Vegas worked as intern at JURA Management AG in Aarau. During his internship, his main responsibilities included:

- Supporting the preparation of the Social Report by extracting, validating and processing human capital data, carrying out quality checks to ensure accuracy and consistency, and assisting with audit-related follow-up requests.
- Cleaning, consolidating and structuring data from various HR datasets to ensure reliable reporting, analysis and further processing, while responding constructively to requests from relevant stakeholders.
- Developing and maintaining Excel-based FTE reporting, forecasting and financial analyses, providing clear overviews of recruitment activity, new hires, vacancies, unfilled assigned positions and departmental FTE requirements.
- Improving HR reporting processes through Power Query, Excel macros and clear user documentation, automating recurring tasks and enabling colleagues to use the recruitment registration process effectively.

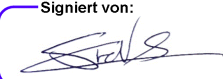

Diego Vegas had sound technical knowledge and applied it successfully in practice. He quickly familiarised himself with new tasks and contributed effectively to the topics assigned to him.

Diego Vegas showed strong initiative, a high level of commitment and a reliable approach to his work. He adapted quickly to changing circumstances and remained focused and composed, even when working under time pressure. He completed his tasks independently, carefully and with a clear focus on quality.

Diego Vegas communicated clearly and proactively, provided regular updates and involved his supervisors appropriately in more complex situations. He accepted feedback constructively and used it for his further development. His conduct towards supervisors, colleagues and internal stakeholders was always professional, respectful and cooperative.

Diego Vegas leaves us upon completion of his fixed-term internship. We thank him for his valuable contribution and wish him all the best, continued success and personal well-being for the future.
